Tiny,

I think it is time that something constructive should be done about getting the title of Trend or the legal papers squared away, this thing has been lingering for some time and I feel as tho it should not be held off any longer.

I cannot run off another book until some progress is ~~made~~ in that direction.

When it get to the point that I am incapable of handling finance for Quickset I think something should be done to insure my standing.

Dave:

You are quite right about something constructive being done. However it is unfortunate that I haven't been able to raise the money to set this situation right. However if you have about Three Hundred Fifty Dollars, to assist Trend, placing it, as your share, it would help.

I don't even need to discuss the things you have been doing that has retarded all progress, such as not sticking to business in Trend, doing throwaways when the books are waiting to be run, using Trends paper for throwaways, also I can count the times you brought supplies, only when I couldn't buy them.

Your work is excellent, no one has complained, but you do it when you feel like it. You don't lose nothing because most of the people who bring work think they are helping Trend. When you play, or hold them up, they don't come back, I have the bad name, not you. This is one of the reasons you didn't get the Calendar job, I did. After much talk about you being capable I was given the job. I am not looking for money for the job, you will receive the Forty Dollars for your work, as you said for your service.

Below are one or two plans you can work on in the future:

- 1 - You buy your own supplies and all stock of your own, and don't use anything that I purchase.
- 2 - That I receive 25% of all jobs that come through me, over $10.00
- 3 - That Trend copies must be run Wed, Thurs and Fridays all other days is yours.

You can run Quickset if you want to continue under this agreement. Quickset is your name if you want it cause really I don't need it.

Now this thing about not running another copy, well if that's the way you want it okay. Remember in the past if you had of kept the book coming out on time perhaps the title would have been squared away.

If you find that the above plans are not feasible to you, you can leave your keys to the office on my desk.

Sincerely your friend

Tiny
